Chief Information Officer

Golden Valley Memorial Healthcare

Golden Valley Memorial Healthcare (GVMH) is a leading not-for-profit, healthcare organization, offering a full-range of the finest professional healthcare services available in west central Missouri.

Ranked as one of the top 10 hospitals in Missouri by the Lown Institute, GVMH has a high-tech 56-bed hospital, 24/7 emergency department and four multi-specialty clinics located in Clinton, Osceola, Warsaw and Windsor.

GVMH also has an outpatient clinic and cancer center, as well as home health services, hospice services, and therapy services.

GVMH provides convenient access to highly trained medical specialists that provide a full-range of services, including specialized areas such as obstetrics, oncology, orthopedics, pediatrics, urology and more.

The organization is dedicated to providing their patients with the Golden Standard of Care. This begins with knowing the people they serve, both inside and outside their facilities. GVMH's patients are not just patients. They are members of their community—their families, friends, and neighbors.

The Golden Standard of Care is understanding how to best care for their patients and treating them with the highest level of personal care, compassion, and friendliness.

Mission: To provide exceptional healthcare with friendliness and compassion.

Vision: Great people committed to innovative healthcare; recognized by their families, friends and neighbors as the provider and employer of choice.

Values: Quality, Professionalism, Accountability, Compassion, and Excellence

Chief Information Officer

Overview

Golden Valley Memorial Healthcare, one of the Top Ten hospitals in Missouri, is a bit different from other hospital systems, according to CEO Craig Thompson.

"We are independent," he says. "We make all decisions within our four walls, we don't answer to a corporate office in another city, and we have been profitable 24 of the past 25 years."

It's now time, according to Craig, for the organization to hire its first CIO to provide technology vision and leadership initiatives for the future.

The CIO will direct the planning and implementation of enterprise IT systems to improve cost effectiveness, service quality, and business development.

The CIO will lead a staff of twenty IT team members, reports to the Executive Director of Service and Experience, and is a member of the Executive Team.

The system is on Meditech Expanse.

Initial projects will include:

- Assessing and improving electronic security
- Developing plans to optimize applications and technology
- Creating strategies to identify grant opportunities
- Growing telemedicine
- Directing development and execution of enterprise-wide disaster recovery and business continuity plans

Primary Responsibilities

- Participate in strategic and operational decisions as a member of the senior management team.
- Lead IT strategic and operational technology planning to improve cost effectiveness, service quality, and business development.

- Develop, track, and control operating and capital budgets.
- Strategically invest IT monies in technology that provides value.
- Direct development and execution of enterprise-wide disaster recovery and business continuity plans.
- Assess and make recommendations on the improvement or re-engineering of the IT organization.

The Qualified Candidate

Required:

- Bachelor's degree in the field of computer science or business administration
- 3+ years of experience managing and/or directing an IT operation
- 5+ years of experience working in the healthcare IT industry
- Experience in strategic planning and execution
- Proven leadership ability

Preferred:

- Master's degree
- Experience with Meditech EMR
- Strong background in community/rural health

Please note, residency in or relocation to the Clinton, Missouri area is required.

Relocation Information

Clinton, MO

Located one hour southeast from Kansas City, MO, Clinton is a unique historic small town and an upcoming rural community.

Clinton, offers access to over 56,000 acres of prime fishing on Truman Lake, known as a world class Crappie fishing lake and the area hosts many tournaments that attract about 75,000 visitors annually.

The town is also a trailhead for the Katy Trail, which is the longest bike trail in the U.S. that offers direct access to Kansas City. The trail is used by cyclists, runners, and horseback riders.

With a low cost of living, affordable housing, and good schools, Clinton is a great place to raise a family.

Residents enjoy a small town atmosphere that is close to big city activities.

Clinton's Historic Downtown Square is the largest historic area in the state and attracts many tourists. The Victorian setting of the downtown offers a welcome retreat into the 1800's and includes several unique boutique shops and cafes.

The town hosts many events throughout the year including Olde Glory Days, a fun-filled multi day experience that features carnival rides, kayak races, duck races, an antique car show, a large parade, Olympic style games, and great musical entertainment from Nashville, Kansas City, and Austin, Texas.

Harry S. Truman State Park is an ideal spot for recreational activities with clear waters and dramatic bluffs. Located on a peninsula, the park offers a marina for ample fishing and boating opportunities. There are also hiking trails, picnic areas, and campsites throughout the park's open oak woodlands.

Clinton is about an hour's drive away from Kansas City, Springfield, and Lake of the Ozarks.
